SJM Theodore Racing Triumphs in Round Three of 2025 Lamborghini Super Trofeo Asia

- Macau's Charles Leong and Ireland's Alex Denning take their fourth win of the season
- Championship lead further extended for SJM Theodore Racing after hectic second race in Fuji

(Macau, 7 July 2025) Supported by SJM Resorts, S.A. ("SJM"), iconic Asian motorsports team SJM Theodore Racing achieved their fourth win of the season after only six races in the 2025 Lamborghini Super Trofeo Asia ("LSTA") round three event in Japan. Macau's homegrown driver Charles Leong Hon Chio and teammate Alex Denning from Ireland secured second place in race one of the Fuji double header before clinching victory in the hectic race two, showcasing their determination on the track. This win further solidifies SJM Theodore Racing's position at the top of the championship standings as they head to round four in Korea next month.

Ms. Daisy Ho, Managing Director of SJM, said: "We are immensely proud to see SJM Theodore Racing delivering such consistent performances on the international stage, and especially the progress of Macau's home-grown talent, Charles Leong, who showcases the determination and spirit of our city to audiences around the world. SJM's support for this journey reflects our commitment to carrying forward Macau's proud connection to the sport, and we hope it will inspire motorsport enthusiasts to visit Macau and experience the city's rich Grand Prix heritage."

Theodore team principal Mr. Teddy Yip Junior commented: "This fourth win in just six races is a tremendous testament to the relentless dedication, skill, and spirit of everyone at SJM Theodore Racing. I'm incredibly proud of the entire team—on and off the track—for delivering such consistent excellence. Their passion and commitment continue to push the limits of what we can achieve."

Leong said: "Everything is very good, very positive. The car was great and we are really putting everything together. I'm really very happy for everyone in the team and I'd like to say a huge thanks to SJM Theodore Racing again. We're looking forward to the rest of the season. Leading the championship going to Inje everything is very positive. We've extended our lead again and yeah, it's getting there."

Denning said: "As I always say, I judge the performance rather than the outcome and we are happy, really really happy with both the performance and the outcome there. It was probably one of the few races where it completely went to plan, so we're absolutely delighted. Thank you very much to SJM Theodore Racing and to all my sponsors, all you guys are the reason why we're here today."

As a dedicated partner of SJM Theodore Racing, SJM is deeply committed to fostering motorsport development in Macau while nurturing emerging talents. This partnership aims to create a robust framework for cultivating future stars in the racing world, providing them with the resources and opportunities needed to excel. By leveraging Theodore Racing's esteemed legacy in motorsports, SJM seeks not only to enhance Macau's motorsport heritage but also to ensure that the city is recognised for its vibrant culture. The collaboration aspires to showcase Macau's talents on the international stage, inspiring a new generation of racers and reinforcing the city's status as a burgeoning hub for motorsport excellence.

Round four of this year's six-round, 12-race LSTA is set to take place at the South Korean venue of Inje from 18 to 20 July. The penultimate round of the series will be held at Malaysia's Sepang Circuit. The season concludes in Italy at Misano from 6 to 7 November, which will host both the final LSTA round of the year and the annual Lamborghini Super Trofeo World Finals—a season-closing showdown between Super Trofeo competitors from the European, North American and Asian series.

- End -

SJM Theodore Racing achieved fourth win of the season from six races in the Lamborghini Super Trofeo Asia round three event in Japan.

Macau's Charles Leong Hon Chio and teammate Alex Denning clinched another victory.